D Generation X

By Anthony Horn

The amazing tag teams DX recently were banned from the the WWE superstars in just one season of wrestling together, until general manager, Mr. McMahon, banned their partnership from the WWE for life. Yes, I know it's a tragedy, but at least you get to know that there actually was a team that good in the WWE.

Big Mario!

By Christian Carlos & David Higgins

Have you ever heard of Mario? I bet you have, well in his new game he goes from the size of a mouse to the size of a giant! If you like Mario or giant Mario's, I suggest you check it out.

It's a-me, Mario!

All about Christmas!

By Colin Pollard

Christmas is not all about the presents; it's about giving, too.

It's Christmas spirit!

Christmas can always be about spending time with the whole family, and eating with them too. If you don't want to waste your mom and dad's money so they can buy you a car when you're sixteen or pay for something that you might want later, don't ask for that many presents.

Path of the Jedi

By David Higgins

If you get channel 69, which is Cartoon Network, and you have seen the show Star Wars: The Clone Wars then you have probably heard of Path of the Jedi. I'm David Higgins and I'm going to be the new online game critic. For this week I'm doing Cartoon Network's game Path of the Jedi. If you watch the show, you should know Asoaka and the battle droids. Well, in this game, you get to be Asoaka and do missions while you destroy the droid army, led by the evil general grievous! If you want to help beat the droid army, give Path of the Jedi a try.

Little Deer

By Hanna Rain Diamond & Hailey Beshires

Once there was a little deer and his mom. His mom went out to get
